CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation to all my friends for their kind remembrances, while I was in the hospital after receiving a broken leg in a fall, and since my return home. All your kin deeds will be always remembered.
Curtis Harris.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving memory of our son and brother, Richard Wayne Moore, who left us two years ago, October 5, 1957.

Two years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
The shock was hard, we did not know,
That you so soon would have to go.

Always smiling, unselfish and kind,
A son like him is hard to find;
A beautiful life that came to an end,
He lived, he died, everybody's friend.

A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keep your memory ever dear;
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.

Days of sadness will come over us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Often to your grave we wander,
Placing some flowers with loving care,
We feel that you are ever near us,
As we sadly linger there.
—Sadly missed by his Parents and Brother, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Moore and Lewis Edward. (1tp)

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of wife and mother, Mrs. Brucie Almond, who departed life one year ago, Sept. 29, 1958.
A token of love and remembrance
Of one we shall never forget.
Her memory to us a treasure,
Her loss a lifetime of regret.
Safe in the arms of Jesus,
And this we know is true,
You can never return to us,
But we can come to you.
Sadly missed by her Family.
(1tp)

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father, A. B. Ferguson, who passed away seven years ago today, Sept. 29, 1962.
Seven long and lonely years ago today,
Dear Daddy, you quietly slipped away.
To rest in the arms of Jesus.
We will never forget that day.
Some may think we have forgotten you,
When they see us smile.
But they little know the sorrow,
That we suffer all the while.
No one knows our sorrow,
A few have seen us weep,
But the way our hearts ache
For you, Dear Daddy, and wish
You were here to help to guide us,
Along as you always did.
All we can do now, Dear Daddy,
Is remember the lesson you taught us, and try to follow you,
For we know you are safe with Jesus, where no harm can reach you
And waiting to greet us when we get there.
As we go to your grave and place Flowers, we breathe a prayer,
That some day we will meet you
Where there will always be happiness.
—Sadly missed by

Kenny Foundation Sponsors Probe of Neuromuscular Ills

THIS 21-YEAR-OLD MAN is making "excellent progress" toward recovery at a Sister Kenny foundation facility, where he was admitted, completely helpless, for treatment and rehabilitation, after having suffered a fracture of the neck, with paralysis in all four extremities, in an automobile accident. Punching the keys with the eraser end of a pencil, he is shown practicing typewriting. An occupational therapist supervises the exercises, designed to teach the patient to raise his paralyzed arms and to provide him with a means of communication. Under its expanded program, the Kenny foundation provides treatment and rehabilitation for mishap victims and patients with neuromuscular disabilities, including polio.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Pioneering surgical techniques developed by Dr. Irving S. Cooper, with financial assistance from the Sister Kenny foundation, offer new hope to thousands of persons afflicted with neuromuscular disabilities, including Parkinsonism and dystonia.

Dr. Cooper, a member of the Kenny Foundation Medical Advisory committee, is professor of clinical neurosurgery, New York University Post-Graduate Medical School, and director of neurosurgery, St. Barnabas hospital, both in New York city.

His pioneering surgical techniques, chemopallidectomy and chemothalamectomy, are directed at relief for victims of Parkinsonism or shaking palsy, dystonia and other physical conditions marked by tremor and involuntary movements. The operation, hailed as a major breakthrough in brain surgery, has already provided relief for many hundreds of patients.

This far-reaching activity is supplemented by Kenny supported programs at University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; Montreal Neurological institute, McGill university, Montreal, Canada, and at Children's hospital, Buffalo, N. Y.

Although neurological relief of involuntary movements is, in effect, the treatment of a symptom rather than the cause of these diseases, it does constitute an important first step in the rehabilitation of such patients. Relieved of the disabling and often exhausting and deforming effects of their involuntary muscular movements, patients are ready for rehabilitation through physical and psychiatric therapy, with orthopedic surgery sometimes required. In the past, orthopedic and psychiatric measures frequently were difficult to apply in many such cases.

National P.T.A. Sets Goal: Over 12,000,000 Members

More American children than ever before are enrolled in school this fall.

And more and more of their parents and teachers will be P.T.A. members by the time the National Congress of Parents and Teachers concludes its annual October membership enrollment.

Through the efforts of the millions of parents and teachers already working in P.T.A.'s, children all over the United States are assured the closest kind of home-school cooperation on their behalf. Out of this working together of home and school have come higher educational standards, curriculums geared to the needs of today's world, more adequate school facilities and more effective parent education programs and, of course, good playgrounds, safe sidewalks, driver-training classes, and continuous health programs.

Mrs. James C. Parker, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, president of the National Congress, points to such P.T.A. achievements as "a significant factor" in the growth of the National Congress, which already ranks as the world's largest voluntary organization.

"A membership of more than 12,000,000 in our goal this year," she says, "and we intend to call on all the families we can to enroll new members — whether parents or teachers or other citizens with a real interest in children."

Work for All

The variety of P.T.A. activities, Mrs. Parker believes, "offers all members an opportunity to work on the many problems that involve the welfare and advancement of the nation's children."

Because the P.T.A.'s chief concern is for children, its action on their behalf starts even before they're ready for school.

—A pre-school program emphasizes the child's health, his safety, and his sound emotional development. It may take the form of an immunization project like that undertaken in Tennessee's Washington County, where children started to school this fall protected against diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough, and polio—because P.T.A. members took the lead in a county-wide fight against communicable disease.

—When a child takes the big step into school, the P.T.A. offers a ready-made meeting place where parents and teachers work together for the child's academic and social development. The Kenosha, Wisconsin, Council of P.T.A.'s, for example, sponsored a summer-long elementary school clinic for children who had difficulty in reading.

—Youngsters who have special problems get attention in another phase of the National Congress' program. Language barriers are being breached for Puerto Rican children attending school in Camden, New Jersey, because local P.T.A.'s sparked a move to hire a Spanish instructor who works with these children in their daily English classes.

Teens Get Attention

—Teen-agers are helped, too, by P.T.A. programs designed to spur their development into responsible citizens. In Evanston, Illinois, high school students can look forward to receiving sound advice on future vocations, thanks to a P.T.A. guidance program that culminates in a day-long career conference.

—Because of its interest in children, the P.T.A. also offers adults many chances for constructive community work that will benefit children.

Through the years, the National Congress consistently supported kindergartens, promoted hot lunch programs in schools, alerted the public to violations of child labor statutes, improved the standards of treatment for juvenile offenders, and backed programs to focus attention on the urgent needs of the public schools.

"The more members we enroll," Mrs. Parker points out, "the more opportunities the National Congress will have to work for the well-being of all the nation's children."

Standing beside the P.T.A. oak tree emblem, Mrs. James C. Parker, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, prepares to sow symbolic acorns in an effort to reach the goal of more than twelve million P.T.A. memberships. She urges P.T.A. members to "call on all" during membership enrollment month.
